

Tena Navarrete

The external world has a strong influence on my work. Working non-objectively allows images from my memory to develop. The spontaneous change of color, structure, line and texture.

The process of layering, scraping, changing, painting, over and redrawing in order to create a powerful visual statement expresses the intensive fascination with the journey of new discovery.

Creating work that is unique and self-revealing and develops a dialogue between the present moment, My imagination, the painted canvas and the viewer.
